

Call for Papers:

Cryptocurrency Research Conference 2018

Thursday 24 May 2018

Anglia Ruskin University,
Cambridge, UK

Deadline for submissions: Thursday 15 March 2018

We are delighted to invite you to submit your research papers to be considered for presentation at the first Cryptocurrency Conference of its kind that will take place on 24 May 2018 at Anglia Ruskin University, Cambridge, UK.

This event will bring together an international group of academics conducting research in finance and related disciplines, as well as practitioners and policy makers to discuss the issues associated with the rapid growth of cryptocurrency markets. This conference provides a forum for presenting new research findings, and discussing the future direction of cryptocurrency research.

Important Dates

Submission deadline:	15 March 2018
Notification of acceptance:	15 April 2018
Registration deadline:	11 May 2018
Conference date:	24 May 2018

We welcome both theoretical and empirical papers assessing the opportunities and challenges of cryptocurrency markets. There will be a prize for the best paper from a PhD student. The main theme of the conference is 'Investigating the Macro-financial aspects of Cryptocurrencies'.

Topics include, but are not limited to:

- Asset Price Bubble
- Contagion and Interconnectedness
- Volatility
- Environmental Issues in Cryptocurrency
- Legal Issues in Cryptocurrency
- Financial Regulations
- Blockchain
- Price Clustering
- Safe Haven
- Effect of Announcements

Register now: <http://arul.ink/cryptocurrency2018>

Keynote Speakers

Professor Brian Lucey, PhD, is Professor of International Finance and Commodities at Trinity College Dublin, Ireland, and Director of Research in Trinity Business School. He has published over 100 refereed papers in international finance, commodities, behavioural finance and financial management. Professor Lucey is the Editor of the International Review of Financial Analysis, and Finance Research Letters academic journals.

Dr Shaen Corbet works as a lecturer in Finance at Dublin City University Business School, Ireland. He has previously worked as a Commodities and Equities Trader and as an Economist with the Financial Stability Department at the Central Bank of Ireland. Dr Corbet is currently leading several research projects analysing various aspects of cryptocurrency markets. His recent papers have been published in refereed journals and have received extensive media attention.

Paper Submission

Authors are invited to submit their papers in English and in PDF format no later than Thursday 15 March 2018 by email: cfr@anglia.ac.uk. Submitted manuscripts will be peer-reviewed. No submission fee is required. For PhD students, please indicate your student status when submitting the paper.

Questions should be directed to:

Conference Chair - Dr Larisa Yarovaya Larisa.yarovaya@anglia.ac.uk

Conference Organiser - Rachel Thomason Rachel.thomason@anglia.ac.uk

Prizes

Best Paper Award and Best Student Paper

Publications Opportunities

Authors of selected papers may be invited to submit their manuscript to a regular issue of:

- International Review of Financial Analysis
(<https://www.journals.elsevier.com/international-review-of-financial-analysis/>)
- Finance Research Letters
(<https://www.journals.elsevier.com/finance-research-letters/>)

